FB Advertising

Facebook advertising is a relatively cheap way to get your brand name out there and reach a wider target audience based on companies people follow and their job titles.

These ads appear in your newsfeed and people are directed to a job form where they put their details in for you to contact them.

Example: Engineers – Tilbury

- 832 clicks at 21p/click
- 26,744 impressions

This also works really well in foreign countries.

London Mayor - A victory for positive politics

Home / Blog / London Mayor - A victory for positive politics

So the results are in, the votes have been counted, and Sadiq Khan is the new Mayor of London. I wrote a blog back in October about how I felt this Mayoral election would be decided by policies, rather than the personalities involved. Looking back on the race for election, I feel like I was half-right.

I must confess I didn't vote for either candidate, but Sadiq Khan deserved to defeat Zac Goldsmith. His campaign was on the whole positive, it was energetic, and he successfully connected with a higher number of London's voters. In contrast, the Conservative campaign became increasingly dark, focusing on Khan's personal connections, crudely dividing the electorate and stumbling into a series of embarrassing gaffes. I think the reason for his shift in approach was that he'd already lost the policy battle, so he started slinging mud. The result was Khan came across as credible, while Goldsmith seemed anything but. It will be interesting to see what happens to Goldsmith's political career after the events of the final few weeks. I thought he looked like a man who couldn't wait for it all to be over.

The result means a new party moving into City Hall, and inevitably there will be some fairly big changes in personnel and policy over the next few months. It is highly likely that Housing policy will be at the top of the agenda for the new team. It will be a key part of his role to promote truly affordable housing, including social rent, and to defend those on low to middle incomes that live and work in London. One criticism I've seen of Sadiq Khan is that he tries to be everything to everyone, leading to some inconsistencies and uncertainty over where he stands. He now needs to show his hand and potentially make some uncomfortable choices if he wants his tenure to be one of progress and achievement.

As a man who grew up in London social housing, worked his way up the career ladder and has now reached the position of Mayor, Sadiq Khan can legitimately claim to be a true aspirational Londoner, and one that understands the effect housing policies can have on opportunities available to those with high potential that are not born into wealthy families. Making 50% of all new homes affordable is a tough target, but his background gives me optimism that solutions can be found for the challenges that we face housing people in London in the future.

Re: Example Project Heading, Example Address Line 1

Dear Example First Name,

Congratulations on winning the above project. With staffing & costs in the construction market still subject to rapid change, we've found that our clients now more than ever are looking to add talent to their teams. We're writing to you to suggest three people that we think could add tangible value to your project:

Finishing Manager - Based mid-Sussex - Candidate: 352774

More information

Currently working for Resourcing Group on a c£120m high-rise development in London managing externals, cladding finishes and hard landscaping. He has completed live hospital refurbishments, housing developments and school extensions as a 'number one' on site, as well as working as an assistant manager and finishing manager on various other projects including complex leisure centres. 20 years with a Top 10 contractor results in an exemplary approach to SHEQ and a delivery mentality. Available in two weeks

Freelance QS - Based near Gatwick - Candidate: 139264

More information

Currently working on a final account on a high-spec residential development, this candidate has experience right across the project lifecycle – from take-offs and procurement to final account and post-completion claims. Versatile, as he has worked for subcontractors, consultancies, SME contractors and global Top 10 contractors – this candidate will be available for 3 days a week by the end of August & full-time from mid-September.

Setting Out Engineer - Based in Sussex - Candidate: 335278

More information

Excellent engineer with airports, heavy civils, RC Frame, complex new build and street-works experience for a range of well-known main contractors and specialist subcontractors. A clear communicator, strong with QA and exacting in his standards, he comes highly recommended. Available with own Total Station within the next week.

Resourcing Group are specialist built environment recruiters. In addition to the above technical staff, we can offer temporary trades and labour, help you write and deliver Employment Skills

A three candidate showcase email to be sent to client is best used when we have information about the client and the stage that they are within their project or programme if possible. This enables us to demonstrate pre-understanding of them, their needs and to ensure we are presenting them with candidates appropriate to not only their business or organisation but also their present need.

This is for clients sending them quality candidates

Email - Newsletter

There is an easily adaptable template for newsletters, which enables you to tailor the shape to the content that you want. The key is regularity of content and if you commit to a newsletter we will help you build a timetable of when content needs to be sent to marketing to ensure that (be it monthly or quarterly) you are able to send your newsletters out with regularity.

The year so far

Hydropower continues to dominate the Renewables sector, with new projects starting this year and major hotspots such as Africa and Asia being key areas of development. Overall, Hydropower development growth was steady, adding an estimated 31.5 GW of new capacity. This new added capacity included 6.4 GW of pumped storage, bringing the world's total installed hydro capacity to 1,246 GW1. Total hydro generation for 2016 was estimated at 4,102 TWh2, the greatest ever contribution from a renewable source.

ABB wins Belo Monte transmission deal

ABB is to supply advanced converter transformers for the Belo Monte 800kV ultra high-voltage direct current (UHVDC) transmission link after winning a $75 million order. The 2518km link will transmit hydropower generated in the north of Brazil, from the Xingu substation, to the Rio substation in the Southeast. It will be capable of transporting up to 4000MW of electricity. ABB supplies for the Belo Monte UHVDC link include fourteen 400 mega-volt-ampere (MVA), 400kV converter transformers and other related equipment.

Email - Event emails

There is a programme of works that can be customised depending on your event. We can put together a programme that varies from a single email promoting your event all the way to a five email teaser that drives engagement and sign up (drip feeding more and more information). Another added benefit that is not just sign up is with free events it is likely that you will see drop off so we can create an automated programme to keep those people engaged in order to make sure that the maximum percentage of sign ups attend the event.

With the event just under two weeks away we thought you might like to get to know our guest speakers a little more:

Tim Cook, Group CEO

Tim joined nGAGE Specialist Recruitment as CEO in February 2013. Tim leads the boards of each group company to deliver exemplary service to customers and deliver on high profit growth targets - building and creating value for shareholders. The group encompasses forward thinking digital and tech-enabled solutions to drive value, customer engagement and process efficiencies in its shared service platform. Prior to this, Tim was most recently Global Head of Digital and Business Innovation at Hays, responsible for digital activities in 32 countries.

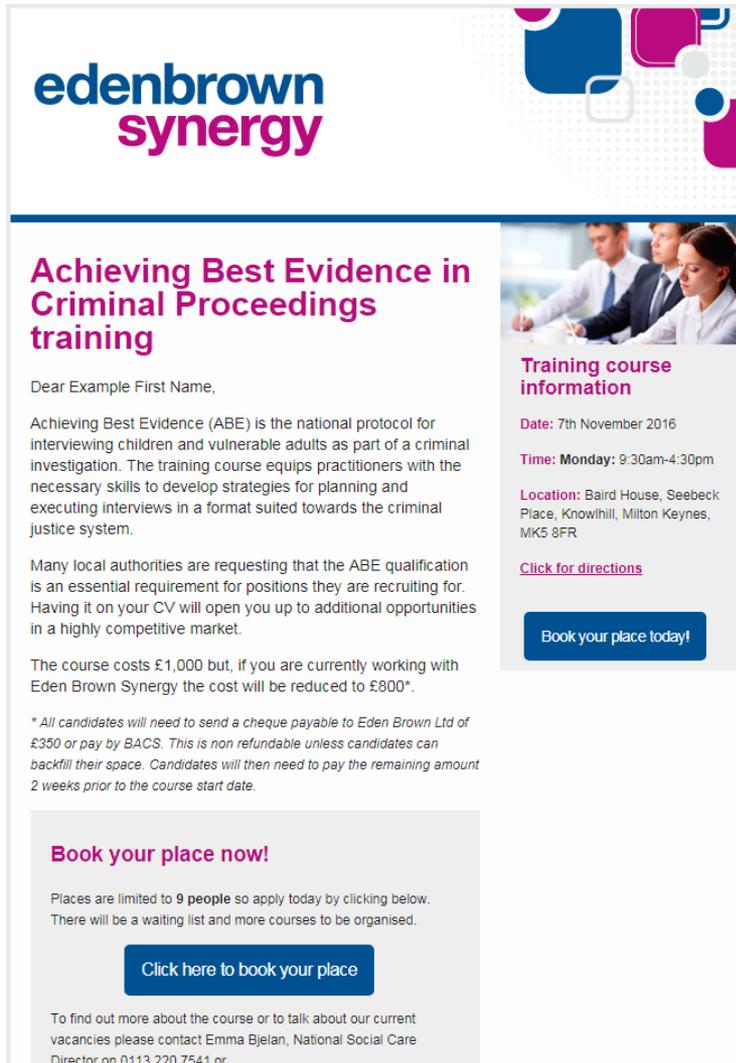

James Pargeter, Global IT Manager

James is a Global IT Manager with General Motors, one of the world's largest auto manufacturers. He started his career as a junior software developer before working through various service management and leadership roles. His specialism is optimising the innovation/operation mix through methods such as automation and bench-marking. He has enhanced his experience in various Milton Keynes-based companies during his 15 year IT career, including Santander, BP and Home Retail Group. James is an accomplished public speaker; energetic, business-focused and commercially savvy. He understands how to lead and drive business/IT stakeholder engagement and knows how to drive process improvements through automation, supported by his ITIL Expert qualification.

Achieving Best Evidence in Criminal Proceedings training

Dear Example First Name,

Achieving Best Evidence (ABE) is the national protocol for interviewing children and vulnerable adults as part of a criminal investigation. The training course equips practitioners with the necessary skills to develop strategies for planning and executing interviews in a format suited towards the criminal justice system.

Many local authorities are requesting that the ABE qualification is an essential requirement for positions they are recruiting for. Having it on your CV will open you up to additional opportunities in a highly competitive market.

The course costs £1,000 but, if you are currently working with Eden Brown Synergy the cost will be reduced to £800*.

* All candidates will need to send a cheque payable to Eden Brown Ltd of £350 or pay by BACS. This is non refundable unless candidates can backfill their space. Candidates will then need to pay the remaining amount 2 weeks prior to the course start date.

Book your place now!

Places are limited to 9 people so apply today by clicking below. There will be a waiting list and more courses to be organised.

Email - Client Spotlight

CIMA believe that the product or service represented below might be of interest to you as a CIMA member or student.

Butler Rose is partnering with Merlin Magic Making to find a Head of Finance to lead the Financial, Planning & Analysis team

As a global leader in location-based entertainment, Merlin is a place that makes magic. Magic that gives millions of people fun, thrills and memorable experiences. Merlin Magic Making (MMM) are the thinkers, dreamers, doers and achievers whose job it is to create and deliver world-class new attractions, hotels and major investment projects, as well as manage the extensive real estate assets of one of the most exciting companies in the world.

The MMM Operating Group includes nine operations spanning six countries with a total budget of c£38m. It drives the rapid expansion of brands including LEGOLAND, Chessington World of Adventures, Thorpe Park, SEALIFE, The Dungeons, Madame Tussauds and The Eye.

MMM currently has a fantastic opportunity for a commercially-focused Head of Finance to join them.

This really is a role like no other...

You will be responsible for all MMM Financial Planning & Analysis, your focus being on Business Performance Management, financial planning and providing commercial support to MMM Production (LEGO, Wax Figures, Theming and Merlin Animal Welfare and Development).

Showcasing a role that you have with an industry leading client is good for your company's brand. We can design email templates that combine your clients and your branding with a large image and slogan to promote the role. It is far more visual than a normal job advert and is more likely to drive applications.

Website

Marketing provides all company websites. We manage the entire process from initial build to the maintenance when the website is live. We use the same skeleton to build our websites but are able to lay any skin that you would like on top. The website should feel unique to your business and we will help you do that through our recommendations and implementation of your design.

The screenshot shows the ewi website homepage. At the top left is the 'ewi' logo with the tagline 'Your global recruitment partner'. To the right, contact information is provided: a phone number '+44 (0) 207 877 8350' and an email address 'hello@ewirecruitment.com'. A navigation bar contains links for 'JOB SEARCH', 'AREAS OF EXPERTISE', 'LIFE SCIENCES', 'MOBILITY', 'ABOUT US', and 'CONTACT US'. The main content area features a large image of modern skyscrapers and a traditional building. A 'QUICK SEARCH' form is overlaid on the right, with fields for 'Keywords...', 'Select Sector', 'Select Country', and 'Select Type', and a 'SEARCH' button. Below the image, a text block describes ewi as a specialist recruitment & mobilisation consultancy. The bottom section is divided into three columns: 'OUR AREAS OF EXPERTISE' with a list of job categories and corresponding images; 'GLOBAL SEARCH' showing '222 jobs' and a 'Search for jobs worldwide' button; and 'LATEST JOB' featuring a 'Testing and Commissioning Engineer' role with an 'APPLY' button.

ewi is a specialist recruitment & mobilisation consultancy headquartered in the City of London with operations in Birmingham and Frankfurt, Germany. We specialise in senior and highly technical positions across the engineering, construction, technology and life science sectors.

New pages

As all of our websites are managed in house we are able to create new pages and add them to menus relatively quickly at no cost to your business. We would require a full first draft of any additional pages that you will need along with some recommendations for the banner image to sit above it.

The screenshot displays the setsquare website interface. At the top, a dark blue navigation bar contains the setsquare logo and a menu with links for HOME, JOB SEARCH, AREAS OF EXPERTISE, RESOURCES, ABOUT US, and CONTACT US. A dropdown menu is open under 'AREAS OF EXPERTISE', listing categories: BUILDING CONSTRUCTION JOBS, CIVIL ENGINEERING JOBS, FACILITIES MANAGEMENT & MAINTENANCE JOBS, CONSULTANCY & DESIGN JOBS, and HIGHWAYS & INFRASTRUCTURE JOBS. Below the navigation is a banner image showing a person using a surveying instrument. The main content area features a breadcrumb trail: 'You are here: Home > Areas of expertise > Highways & infrastructure jobs'. The page title is 'Highways & infrastructure jobs'. The text describes the company's expertise in highways and infrastructure, mentioning 30 years of experience and a focus on local highways. It lists various job roles and provides contact information. On the right side, there are two call-to-action boxes: 'Let's talk' and 'Send us your CV', both with 'Contact us' and 'Submit CV' buttons respectively.

Microsites

Included within your own websites we can create one/multipage microsites that throw a spotlight onto one specific client that you currently have an MSP or sole supplier agreement with in order to drive up fill rates and achieve the 100% success that you and your client expect. Using content written by you and stock images appropriate to that client we can create these for you within a week at no additional cost.

What is ACS?

ACS provides project support, management and leadership of projects & programmes, delivering against company-wide portfolios. Our global network of project delivery consultants and vertical technology experts can be rapidly deployed internationally, enabling ACS to meet multi-country project demands.

By listening to our customers, we have become a responsive, client-focused project delivery partner that believes firmly in a collaborative approach. This allows us to make informed decisions early in the project to ensure project success.

Delivering technology and meeting business goals has made ACS a trusted project delivery partner to a range of customers across diverse market sectors, from SMEs to enterprises with offices around the world.

Our Service

We understand the importance of delivering projects on-time and on-budget whilst adding lasting value to the organisations we support. Some of the benefits of working with us include:

Return on investment: Our consultants use their skills and expertise to deliver an outcome, solution or service that mitigates risk and provides you with a meaningful return on investment.

Speed: Our consultants are already trained so that they can be deployed at a moment's notice. Their experience means they can engage promptly with the situation, and become effective in your organisation faster.

Expertise: Our project delivery consultants and vertical technology experts typically join an organisation at a senior level, providing leadership and expertise at the right level.

Objectivity: Since they come from outside of your organisation, they are unencumbered by company politics or culture, and are able to provide a fresh and unbiased perspective.

Accountability: Our consultants are not simply advisors – they are also practitioners. We will manage and take responsibility for a project or programme.

Commitment: We are committed to delivering and maintaining high professional standards. In this competitive market we rely on our reputation, and know that future work relies upon referrals and a successful track record.

Tailor-made

From full outsourcing to complementing your existing project delivery teams with specialist experience, knowledge and skills

Delivery-led

Our team will deliver to agreed deliverables, verify all progress, risks, ongoing costs, quality of work, adherence to timescales, while referencing back to agreed deliverables

Proven track record

ACS is a trusted project delivery partner to a range of customers from local SMEs to enterprises with offices around the world and across diverse market sectors.

Digital

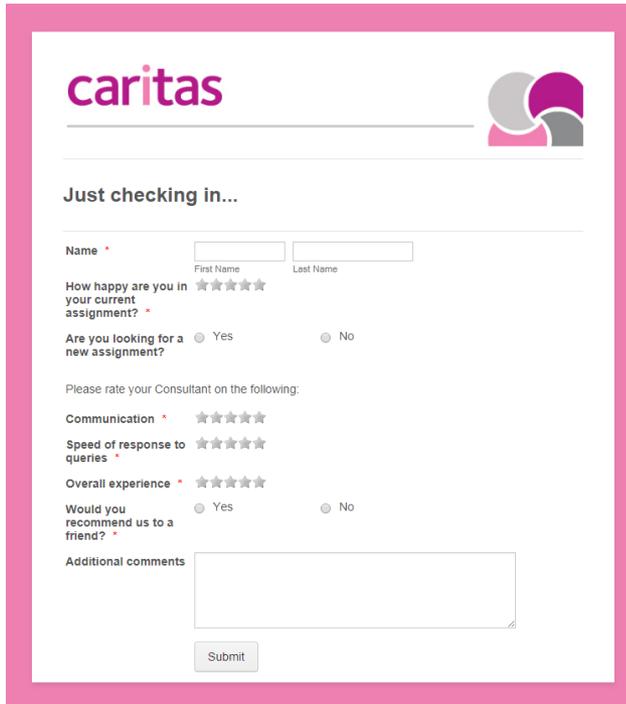

One page sites

When you launch new offshoots to your business it is important that you have a visible online presence and this includes a website. We can create one page HTML5 websites that look professional but do not take large amounts of time and are a fraction of the cost. These sites do not include a job board function so posting roles is not possible, it is more appropriate for consulting brands.

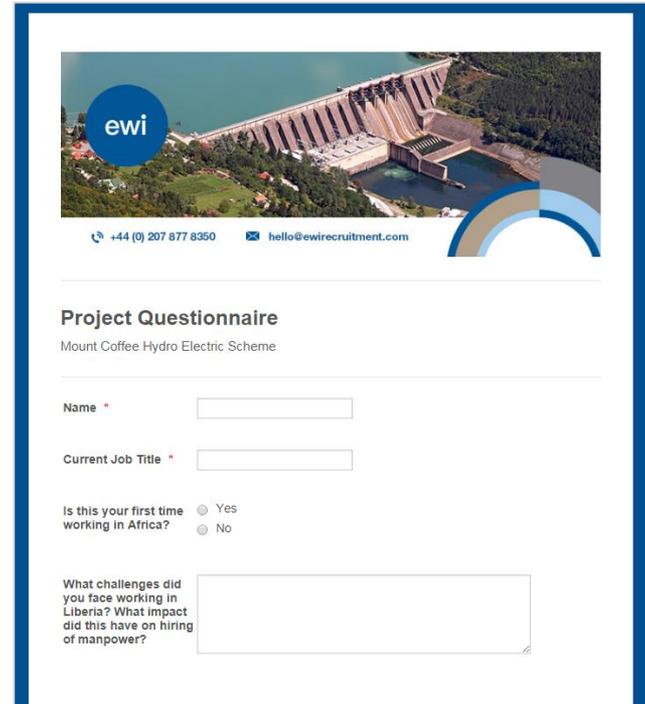

Forms

Using a piece of software we can create neat, mobile friendly and dynamic forms. These can fit any purpose that you need from registration, candidate availability gathering or assessing your current candidate's opinions on their current roles to reduce your churn. These forms can include a multitude of features and input boxes, including to take payment.

The screenshot shows a registration form for Caritas. At the top left is the Caritas logo. To the right is a decorative graphic of three overlapping circles in shades of purple and pink. Below the logo is the heading "Just checking in...". The form includes a "Name" field with sub-fields for "First Name" and "Last Name". It features a five-star rating system for "How happy are you in your current assignment?". There are radio buttons for "Are you looking for a new assignment?" with options "Yes" and "No". Below this is a section for rating the consultant on three criteria: "Communication", "Speed of response to queries", and "Overall experience", each with a five-star rating system. There are also radio buttons for "Would you recommend us to a friend?". At the bottom is a large text area for "Additional comments" and a "Submit" button.

The screenshot shows a "Project Questionnaire" form for ewi. At the top is a banner image of a dam with the ewi logo overlaid. Below the banner are contact details: a phone number "+44 (0) 207 877 8350" and an email address "hello@ewirecruitment.com". The form title is "Project Questionnaire" with the subtitle "Mount Coffee Hydro Electric Scheme". It includes a "Name" field and a "Current Job Title" field. There are radio buttons for "Is this your first time working in Africa?" with options "Yes" and "No". At the bottom is a large text area for "What challenges did you face working in Liberia? What impact did this have on hiring of manpower?".
